

ZELMA LISA LOSEKE
PRESENTS

A New Beginning

Zelma's Farm
Zelma Lisa Loseke

Zelma's Farm tells the story of a little girl whose happy life is turned upside down by the tragic loss of her father and farm. Under the watchful eye of her Heavenly Father she vows to build a farm of her own. People bring her their unwanted animals and she takes them in. She creates a place where children find safety and beauty, while they learn the value of responsibility and hard work. Gardening, sugaring, beekeeping, animal care and apple picking are just some of the simple pleasures associated with farm life.

Zelma's Farm shares how God calls the broken and unqualified to do his work in this world. He redeems and qualifies those He calls.

The simple text and beautiful luminous watercolor paintings by Bert Dodson are perfect for reading aloud to your child or for beginning readers to discover for themselves. Visit the web site www.zelmasfarm.com

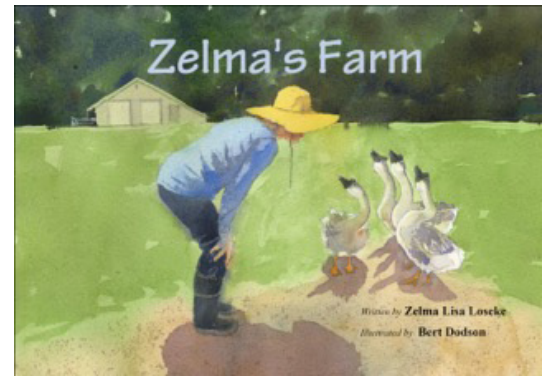

"God calls the broken and unqualified."

About the Author

Zelma comes from three generations of farmers. She has been taking in rescue animals on her own farm for thirty years. An accomplished artist in her own right, she has exhibited her woven willow sculpture and paper/vine constructions at the Smithsonian, the Philadelphia Museum of Art, in juried craft shows, and in galleries. Active in overseas mission work with The Tomorrow Club and in community volunteer organizations, she is mother of three, grandmother of eight, and married to Bert Dodson.

Suggested Interview Questions

- How did you come up with idea?
- Why did you choose to write the book?
- What message or messages are you trying to communicate?
- Tell us about the artist.
- What communities are you trying to reach?
- What creative projects are underway?
- What charities do you contribute to?
- Do you plan to publish in other languages?
- Are you developing any interactive projects?
- Why are children responding to your website?

ZELMA'S FARM

Zelma Lisa Loseke
978-0998977409
Hardcover, 32pp.

Order from Ingram / Spring Arbor

Media Contact

ZELMA LISA LOSEKE
www.zelmasfarm.com
bdod@sover.net
802-439-5126

ZELMA LISA LOSEKE
is a proud member of

